Sharon Lantz: ...trying to find what works in education and share what works.

Narrator: USL's Educational Technology Review Center is the only center of its kind in the state. Here, teachers and USL students learn to use computers to interact with other forms of media. Education becomes exciting when video, compact discs, and other new technologies can be incorporated into classroom activities. We believe this is a key to strengthening education in Louisiana, and USL is in the leadership position.

Sharon Lantz: We did.

Sharon Lantz: We've come a long way.
