Ernie Alexander: Hi everybody and welcome once again to another College of Education show from USL, and we're excited to be here one more time. I'm Ernie Alexander and my co-host is Dr. Ed Dugas. Ed, welcome again.

Dr. Ed Dugas: Thank you, Ernie.

Ernie Alexander: Gotta ask you a question to start off the show. Your wife has got to be relieved that this is the last show.

Dr. Ed Dugas: We talked about that for a little while tonight.

Ernie Alexander: Did she?

Dr. Ed Dugas: Yeah, yeah. She's anxious that this would be the last one that she has to tape 'cause every time I leave, I remind her that she's taping for me.

Ernie Alexander: Well, that's great. Folks we have an exciting program for you this evening. We're going to have a little bit of our Lieutenant Governor and also Cecil Picard, our Superintendent of Education, and when they address seniors at USL. Then we're going to deal with the future of education and the future of the College of Education at USL, and we've got just a whole bunch of folk to talk about. Got a USL student. Allison Carlino is going to be with us and give the student's perspective.

Alison Carlino: ... and I've taught my sisters since I was little bitty. I always loved teaching and when I got involved in the teaching curriculum, I just knew I was in the right place. My heart, my grades went up. My attitude was great. I just knew I was in the right place.

Ernie Alexander: Terrific.

Dr. Ed Dugas: Allison, one of the things we tried to do during our College of Ed Academic Showcase was to involve students. Can you tell the audience some of the things that students have done as part of our education showcase?

Alison Carlino: Sure. First of all, leading up to our recognition social, which was on the 14th, we had a student dress up day and class competition. The 11th and 12th and 13th we asked the students to wear vermillion and white as much as they could and the professors would take account of who was wearing how much on what days and the winner was announced at the banquet. The students they're very proud that we're celebrating this kind of academic showcase with our college and we have a lot to be proud of...
