Acadiana Neuf
Officers Named
FEB 4 59

CROWLEY, La. — Officers of Acadiana Neuf, the group working to implement the Economic Opportunity Act in a six-parish area, were elected Wednesday at a meeting in Lafayette.

Dr. Louis Coussou, a professor at the University of Southern-western Louisiana, was named president.

Other officers are J. O. Kite of Kaplan, vice president; Marcus E. Kirk of Crowley, secretary, and Rev. Ivan Arceaux of Lafayette, treasurer.

Parishes in Acadiana Neuf are Acadia, Lafayette, Vermilion, St. Mary, St. Martin, and Iberia.

Meetings will be held on the second and fourth Wednesday of each month at 2 p.m. in the office of the Lafayette School Board.

The board is now seeking a person for the $12,000 salaried post of director.

A total of $4,317,000 has been allocated to Louisiana under the Economic Opportunity Act. The area parish shares has been allocated as follows: Acadia, $84,183.56; Iberia, $74,252.60; Lafayette, $106,746.00; St. Landry, $167,667.60; St. Martin, $90,006.30; and Vermilion, $59,043.80.

With justification, these amounts may be exceeded by 50 per cent.

Also representing Acadia Parish on the board is M. W. Scanlan, Jr., of Church Point.
