Majority of Unwed Negro Girls Keep Their Children

ADOPTION CHANCES IN LOUISIANA SLIM

BY JOHN COFFY

In a way, it's probably a good thing that the overwhelming majority of unmarried Negro girls kept their babies—because no one would adopt them.

The problem is that the baby isn't ready to be adopted. The Negro baby in Louisiana is destined to be adopted by his [or her] parents. The Negro baby in Connecticut is destined to be adopted by someone else.

The Negro baby in Louisiana happens to be Negro. The baby in Connecticut happens to be white.

The Negro baby's parents can't wait long enough to be ready to adopt him, so when he is two or three months old, and the Negro baby's adoptive parents are ready to adopt him, it's already too late.

And the surplus every year up, says Mrs. Cowart. And the Negro baby is just a start of the problem.

Doubtful Problems

The reason is a complex combination of problems—economic, social, generational, cultural, and economic. In the past, the Negro baby has never been ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. And this year, the Negro baby is not ready for adoption.

The Negro baby is now in the process of being adopted by his [or her] parents, and the Negro baby is not ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. Although not every Negro baby's parents are ready to adopt him, most Negro babies are ready for adoption when they reach the legal age of adoption.

And the Negro baby is in the process of being adopted by his [or her] parents, and the Negro baby is not ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. Although not every Negro baby's parents are ready to adopt him, most Negro babies are ready for adoption when they reach the legal age of adoption.

And the Negro baby is in the process of being adopted by his [or her] parents, and the Negro baby is not ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. Although not every Negro baby's parents are ready to adopt him, most Negro babies are ready for adoption when they reach the legal age of adoption.

And the Negro baby is in the process of being adopted by his [or her] parents, and the Negro baby is not ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. Although not every Negro baby's parents are ready to adopt him, most Negro babies are ready for adoption when they reach the legal age of adoption.

And the Negro baby is in the process of being adopted by his [or her] parents, and the Negro baby is not ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. Although not every Negro baby's parents are ready to adopt him, most Negro babies are ready for adoption when they reach the legal age of adoption.

And the Negro baby is in the process of being adopted by his [or her] parents, and the Negro baby is not ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. Although not every Negro baby's parents are ready to adopt him, most Negro babies are ready for adoption when they reach the legal age of adoption.

And the Negro baby is in the process of being adopted by his [or her] parents, and the Negro baby is not ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. Although not every Negro baby's parents are ready to adopt him, most Negro babies are ready for adoption when they reach the legal age of adoption.

And the Negro baby is in the process of being adopted by his [or her] parents, and the Negro baby is not ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. Although not every Negro baby's parents are ready to adopt him, most Negro babies are ready for adoption when they reach the legal age of adoption.

And the Negro baby is in the process of being adopted by his [or her] parents, and the Negro baby is not ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. Although not every Negro baby's parents are ready to adopt him, most Negro babies are ready for adoption when they reach the legal age of adoption.

And the Negro baby is in the process of being adopted by his [or her] parents, and the Negro baby is not ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. Although not every Negro baby's parents are ready to adopt him, most Negro babies are ready for adoption when they reach the legal age of adoption.

And the Negro baby is in the process of being adopted by his [or her] parents, and the Negro baby is not ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. Although not every Negro baby's parents are ready to adopt him, most Negro babies are ready for adoption when they reach the legal age of adoption.

And the Negro baby is in the process of being adopted by his [or her] parents, and the Negro baby is not ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. Although not every Negro baby's parents are ready to adopt him, most Negro babies are ready for adoption when they reach the legal age of adoption.

And the Negro baby is in the process of being adopted by his [or her] parents, and the Negro baby is not ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. Although not every Negro baby's parents are ready to adopt him, most Negro babies are ready for adoption when they reach the legal age of adoption.

And the Negro baby is in the process of being adopted by his [or her] parents, and the Negro baby is not ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. Although not every Negro baby's parents are ready to adopt him, most Negro babies are ready for adoption when they reach the legal age of adoption.

And the Negro baby is in the process of being adopted by his [or her] parents, and the Negro baby is not ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. Although not every Negro baby's parents are ready to adopt him, most Negro babies are ready for adoption when they reach the legal age of adoption.

And the Negro baby is in the process of being adopted by his [or her] parents, and the Negro baby is not ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. Although not every Negro baby's parents are ready to adopt him, most Negro babies are ready for adoption when they reach the legal age of adoption.

And the Negro baby is in the process of being adopted by his [or her] parents, and the Negro baby is not ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. Although not every Negro baby's parents are ready to adopt him, most Negro babies are ready for adoption when they reach the legal age of adoption.

And the Negro baby is in the process of being adopted by his [or her] parents, and the Negro baby is not ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. Although not every Negro baby's parents are ready to adopt him, most Negro babies are ready for adoption when they reach the legal age of adoption.

And the Negro baby is in the process of being adopted by his [or her] parents, and the Negro baby is not ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. Although not every Negro baby's parents are ready to adopt him, most Negro babies are ready for adoption when they reach the legal age of adoption.

And the Negro baby is in the process of being adopted by his [or her] parents, and the Negro baby is not ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. Although not every Negro baby's parents are ready to adopt him, most Negro babies are ready for adoption when they reach the legal age of adoption.

And the Negro baby is in the process of being adopted by his [or her] parents, and the Negro baby is not ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. Although not every Negro baby's parents are ready to adopt him, most Negro babies are ready for adoption when they reach the legal age of adoption.

And the Negro baby is in the process of being adopted by his [or her] parents, and the Negro baby is not ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. Although not every Negro baby's parents are ready to adopt him, most Negro babies are ready for adoption when they reach the legal age of adoption.

And the Negro baby is in the process of being adopted by his [or her] parents, and the Negro baby is not ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. Although not every Negro baby's parents are ready to adopt him, most Negro babies are ready for adoption when they reach the legal age of adoption.

And the Negro baby is in the process of being adopted by his [or her] parents, and the Negro baby is not ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. Although not every Negro baby's parents are ready to adopt him, most Negro babies are ready for adoption when they reach the legal age of adoption.

And the Negro baby is in the process of being adopted by his [or her] parents, and the Negro baby is not ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. Although not every Negro baby's parents are ready to adopt him, most Negro babies are ready for adoption when they reach the legal age of adoption.

And the Negro baby is in the process of being adopted by his [or her] parents, and the Negro baby is not ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. Although not every Negro baby's parents are ready to adopt him, most Negro babies are ready for adoption when they reach the legal age of adoption.

And the Negro baby is in the process of being adopted by his [or her] parents, and the Negro baby is not ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. Although not every Negro baby's parents are ready to adopt him, most Negro babies are ready for adoption when they reach the legal age of adoption.

And the Negro baby is in the process of being adopted by his [or her] parents, and the Negro baby is not ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. Although not every Negro baby's parents are ready to adopt him, most Negro babies are ready for adoption when they reach the legal age of adoption.

And the Negro baby is in the process of being adopted by his [or her] parents, and the Negro baby is not ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. Although not every Negro baby's parents are ready to adopt him, most Negro babies are ready for adoption when they reach the legal age of adoption.

And the Negro baby is in the process of being adopted by his [or her] parents, and the Negro baby is not ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. Although not every Negro baby's parents are ready to adopt him, most Negro babies are ready for adoption when they reach the legal age of adoption.

And the Negro baby is in the process of being adopted by his [or her] parents, and the Negro baby is not ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. Although not every Negro baby's parents are ready to adopt him, most Negro babies are ready for adoption when they reach the legal age of adoption.

And the Negro baby is in the process of being adopted by his [or her] parents, and the Negro baby is not ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. Although not every Negro baby's parents are ready to adopt him, most Negro babies are ready for adoption when they reach the legal age of adoption.

And the Negro baby is in the process of being adopted by his [or her] parents, and the Negro baby is not ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. Although not every Negro baby's parents are ready to adopt him, most Negro babies are ready for adoption when they reach the legal age of adoption.

And the Negro baby is in the process of being adopted by his [or her] parents, and the Negro baby is not ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. Although not every Negro baby's parents are ready to adopt him, most Negro babies are ready for adoption when they reach the legal age of adoption.

And the Negro baby is in the process of being adopted by his [or her] parents, and the Negro baby is not ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. Although not every Negro baby's parents are ready to adopt him, most Negro babies are ready for adoption when they reach the legal age of adoption.

And the Negro baby is in the process of being adopted by his [or her] parents, and the Negro baby is not ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. Although not every Negro baby's parents are ready to adopt him, most Negro babies are ready for adoption when they reach the legal age of adoption.

And the Negro baby is in the process of being adopted by his [or her] parents, and the Negro baby is not ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. Although not every Negro baby's parents are ready to adopt him, most Negro babies are ready for adoption when they reach the legal age of adoption.

And the Negro baby is in the process of being adopted by his [or her] parents, and the Negro baby is not ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. Although not every Negro baby's parents are ready to adopt him, most Negro babies are ready for adoption when they reach the legal age of adoption.

And the Negro baby is in the process of being adopted by his [or her] parents, and the Negro baby is not ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. Although not every Negro baby's parents are ready to adopt him, most Negro babies are ready for adoption when they reach the legal age of adoption.

And the Negro baby is in the process of being adopted by his [or her] parents, and the Negro baby is not ready for adoption until viewed in light of economic conditions. Although not every Negro baby's parents are ready to adopt him, most Negro babies are ready for adoption when they reach the legal age of adoption.