A Tour Through An Acadian Hut

A mud and moss fireplace, almost extinct now, is shown here.

Mrs. Hugh Daspit is shown at the entrance of a genuine replica of an Acadian Hut located in St. Martinville.

Another handicraft of the Acadian culture was the hand-loom which Mrs. Daspit is adept in operating.

Versatility in handiwork was exemplified by the Acadians in their culture. Pictured here are children's playthings.

Photos by Anna Lois Theriot (See Story on Page 26)