GERALD CROUCHET of Lafayette advises that a French
Frenchman with the unlikely name of Wilson Cunningham and his daughter, Ann, were due in the city this week.

IT SEEMS that Gerald and Wilson represent the same U.S.
manufacturer of draglines and other heavy equipment and they met at a convention. Ann Cunningham, who is 25, is interested in finding employment in Lafayette or vicinity for a while so that she can master the English language. Her dad is the fourth largest general contractor in France.

SO, IF YOU KNOW of any job openings please call Mr.
Crouchet at 232-9274 and he'll take it from there.

—J. P. DAVID is another “French Frenchman.” He lives on Bacque Crescent Drive and is interested in doing a movie on life in Acadiana.

—CAJUN COUNTRY connections with Spanish-speaking Latin America keep cropping up all the time.

—MRS. R. H. LITTEL'S late husband was one of the many South Louisianians who worked in the sugar industry in Cuba and learned to speak Spanish fluently, but never did get around to mastering French. He was chief engineer at Billeaud Sugar Co. in Broussard for many years.

VIRGINIA KYLE HINE of New Iberia is another Spanish-speaking South Louisianian.

MIKE MCNULTY of Franklin is yet another. So is Vince Briganti of New Iberia. So is Charlie Campbell of Gueydan.

—ACADIAN FRENCHMEN and Canadian Frenchmen have been in the news quite a bit, and the French Frenchmen are moving up fast.
