EVENT MARKS CLOSE OF MEET IN LAFAYETTE

LAFAYETTE (Spl) — Award winners were revealed at the awards luncheon in the closing hours of the three-day Deep South Writers and Artists Conference at the University of Southwestern Louisiana. The event was sponsored by the Louisiana branches of the National League of American Pen Women.

A highlight of Saturday's session was the recognition of Mrs. Ethel Harvey of Baton Rouge, a member of the executive committee, by the conference. A plaque presented by the Deep South Writers and Artists to Mrs. Harvey reads: "In recognition of five years of dedicated and distinguished service."

Ten workshops were held during the conference and 39 speakers participated including John Wray and Margaret Mary Young and John Renshaw of Shreveport; William Dodd, state superintendent of education, Baton Rouge, and M.A. Wolcott, editor, New Iberia; Franklin Watts and Charles P. May, both of New York, Olive Burt of Utah, and William Baskins of Mississippi.

Award winners in the art division were:
