Youngsville Bernard Home
Moved To Acadian Village

By ALTON BRUSSARD

The old dirt road through the Acadian Village neighborhood is full of cherished memories for the former residents of the area. For many years, the homes and cottages were a source of pride and joy for the community. However, as the years went by, the need for modernization and improvements became evident. One of the homes, the Youngsville Bernard Home, was moved to Acadian Village as a way to preserve its history and maintain its significance.

The Youngsville Bernard Home was located on the outskirts of Youngsville, near the intersection of Louisiana Avenue and Louisiana Street. It was a small, two-story home with a porch and a garage, and it had been in the Bernard family for generations. The house had a unique architectural style that reflected the Acadian heritage of the area.

The move was not an easy process, as it required a lot of planning and coordination. The house had to be disassembled piece by piece, and then reassembled in Acadian Village. This process took several weeks, and it was done with the help of experienced carpenters and movers.

The home was decorated with antiques and artifacts that reflected the history of the Bernard family. The furniture was made of oak and cherry, and the walls were covered with wallpaper that had been hand-painted by the family. The kitchen was fully equipped with appliances, and the bathrooms were equipped with modern fixtures.

Upon arrival at the new home in Acadian Village, the Bernard family was greeted with a warm welcome. The house was now surrounded by a beautiful garden, and the porch was ideal for relaxing and enjoying the views.

The move to Acadian Village was a significant milestone for the Bernard family. It was a way to preserve their history and maintain their connection to the Acadian Village community. The house has become a popular spot for visitors, and it has become a symbol of the rich history and culture of the Acadian Village neighborhood.

Upon arrival at the new site in Acadian Village near Lafayette, the Bernard family boarded a bus. The trip was rough—the bus struck a rut at one point. Miss Jeanne Bernard, Mrs. Dennis (Delma) Bernard, and Mr. Bernard, Pierre Bernard, all of Youngsville, and Antonio Bernard, Jr., of Gaffort, Miss. The Bernards are of perfect harmony with the eleven children, and a cradle will be added to the porch. It should be a home, but it just about needed to be something new career.
