Our Breaux countryites beseem us a little about agriculture, too, even though their knowledge was of subway from actual everyday operation. Our modern students in their uses and studies would quite likely follow the regulations of the Public Law. This is the reason why the Department of Agriculture has prepared 3000 copies of the names of Miss Jeanna Carillo states that in the open, grasping land

WOMEN BEHIND LES BRAVES BARBES KEEP MEN GROWING BEARDS

Behind every great man is a great woman. And so it is with the Ladies Barbes. The organization of periodic Breaux Bridge festivals dedicated to growing beards to celebrate the Centennial of their home town. Behind every member of the Ladies Barbes is not only one great man, but a whole club, called "Les Belles du Centenaire du Pont Bras." This organization was dedicated primarily to making the men in their beard growing project and to assist in every way possible with Centennial activities. They have also made elaborate plans for the day when the beards are finally shaved from tender chins. A silent sign of membership will be given by all ladies in white ruffled blouses, with the question, "Where are the Men?" The certificates will be presented in a formal ceremony. The certificate shows a sunbonnet and a bearded head, with the leadership of Mrs. Al Bergey and the Centennial Belles auxiliary. It is with much pride that the leaders of the Centennial Ladies Auxiliary present the new membership certificate to each lady whose name will be mentioned in a later issue of the Centennial News. The Centennial Belles Auxiliary has been working hard to do their part to make the Centennial the tremendous success that it is going to be.
