BATON ROUGE’S
RICH HISTORY

Baton Rouge is one of those rare cities that has not forgotten its past — a city where historic landmarks stand side by side with the contemporary. The historic sites of Baton Rouge include stately government buildings, private residences of former years, splendid churches, an old arsenal that now displays artifacts of Louisiana and a 19th-Century water tower.

You will want to see some or all of these attractions while visiting downtown Baton Rouge: the State Capitol, the Old State Capitol, the Old Arsenal Museum, the Pentagon Barracks, the Former Governor’s Mansion, the Louisiana Arts and Science Center Riverside, the U.S.S. Kidd, the Prescott-Dougherty House, the Charlet House, the Potts House, the Warden’s House, the Tessier House, St. Joseph’s Cathedral, St. James Episcopal Church, the Lafayette Street Park water tower, Galvez Plaza and Repentance Fountain.
