The Council for the Development of French in Louisiana (CODOFIL), has announced two summer programs with the government of Quebec, to send Louisiana students to the Canadian province this summer.

The first, a five-week study program of French courses, will award up to six college credits recognized by Louisiana colleges and universities. The program takes place at Jonquiere College in the Lake St. John region of Quebec, and departure is scheduled for July 3.

Including two-way plane fare and tours of Quebec City and Montreal, the cost is $425 for the first 150 accepted applicants. After the first 150 are accepted, cost will be $500.

Anyone 16-years-old or older is eligible. Further information on this program is available from the foreign language department of the University of Southwestern Louisiana or from the CODOFIL office, P.O. Box 3936, Lafayette.

The second program, the Youth Inns Program, is four weeks of regular outdoors and camping activities, plus a stay in a French home. The program, also in Quebec province is under the supervision of the provincial government. Departure is also July 3, with total cost, including two-way plane fare, set at $400. Students aged 12 through 18 are eligible.

Interested applicants should contact the CODOFIL office, specifying name, age, address and which of the two programs the student is interested in.
