COVINGTON, La. — Dr. Isaac Jacques submitted a final report Thursday on a census survey he conducted for the city of Covington. His totals showed that Covington had 8,957 persons residing in the city limits.

The breakdown showed 4,933 whites and 3,024 Negroes.

Jacques began his survey on Aug. 6 and completed it with 14 local census takers and himself as the supervisor. He said that the complete job cost the city $950.

Dr. Jacques took a census for Covington in 1958 and at that time found that Covington had 7,300 residents.
