HOW TO CHOOSE A GOOD DAY CARE CENTER FOR YOUR CHILD

WHAT TO LOOK FOR?
There are five main ingredients that make up a good Day Care Center:

1. Building
2. Furnishings, Toys and Equipment
3. Staff
4. Program Offered
5. Children

BUILDING
How does it look on the outside? Does it look inviting to you? If it does, take a second look. Is there a fenced yard with child-size play equipment? Is it sturdy and in good condition? Take a look inside.

FURNISHINGS, TOYS AND EQUIPMENT
Are there child-sized tables and chairs? Are there low open shelves with toys in easy reach of children? Are they in good condition? Is there organization of puzzles, books, art materials, blocks, doll corners with play house toys? Are there small trucks, small toys used with block building? Are there cots, baby beds, play pens, rocking chairs for staff? What about the staff?

STAFF
Parents and guardians should be welcomed by a warm, friendly staff. Go at different times of the day to observe children at play, snack or meal time. Nap time is important, too. Is staff involved with children? Look to see how many children are supervised by one adult. Ask questions. Find out who will take care of your child. Do you like the person? Does this person respond well to you and your child? Having the same individual care for your child daily is important. Ask how children are disciplined. If a good program is offered, there is little need for correcting behavior.

PROGRAM
Look to see if a schedule of daily activities is posted. Are children separated by age and interest? Are they busily and happily engaged in play, or wandering aimlessly about? If there are happy sounds in a cheerful atmosphere, with staff involved, the chances are you are observing a good Day Care Center. Play, both inside and outdoors, snack and mealtime, rest and nap periods—are all part of a good daily program. A good center should post menus including snacks for the week.

CHILDREN
Look at the children to see if they are crying, talking, etc. Is somebody paying attention to them? Are they clean and being supervised. Do they appear to be happy and bright eyed, comfortable – comfortably busy. Are there interesting activities going on. Plan to spend a few hours observing and make unscheduled visits.
