Academy Of Sacred Heart Built On Rich Heritage

By MARY GATEL

Sacred Heart Academy's 150th anniversary celebration was held recently in a small town in Louisiana, where the school was founded. The original school was a small frame building with a bell tower, and was considered one of the finest in the country at that time. The school was founded in 1821 by the Sisters of the Visitation, and was later joined by the Sisters of Mercy.

The school has been in operation since its founding, and has been known for its academic excellence and dedication to the education of girls. The school has produced many notable alumni, including many prominent women in the fields of education, politics, and business.

The school's tradition of excellence has been upheld for 150 years, and is a testament to the dedication and hard work of the past generations.

Lively Floral Gardens were in evidence during the festivities here at Versailles. Lady make cakes, pies, pastries and craft articles to complete the landscape.

Civil War

The Civil War had a significant impact on the school. Many students and teachers served in the Union and Confederate armies, and the school was closed during the war.

The school has continued to thrive, despite the challenges faced by the Civil War and other events in its history. The school has expanded its facilities and programs, and has continued to educate and mentor young women.

The school's rich history and tradition of excellence continues to inspire and motivate students today.
