DISCUSS CRAWFISH SYMPOSIUM - A visiting team from Europe to survey sites for the International Crawfish Symposium to be held in Louisiana in the spring of 1974 met with USL officials Wednesday. Shown above discussing the Symposium and the planned visit to USL following the week-long Symposium at Louisiana State University, are, from left seated, Dr. Clyde L. Rougeau, USL president, and Reinhard Spitz, Hinterthal, Austria and standing from left, Aubrey Heumann, Breaux Bridge; Dr. Ray Authement, USL vice president; and Richard DuRietz, Tangarp, Sweden. Some 500 people from 20 countries of Europe, including from behind the Iron Curtain, and the Far East are expected to participate in the Symposium.

Crawfish Team Visits On Southwestern Campus

A visiting team from Europe to survey sites for the International Crawfish Symposium to be held April 7-12, 1974 in Louisiana were on the University of Southwestern Louisiana campus Wednesday.

In the group were Mr. and Mrs. Reinhard Spitz, Hinterthal, Austria, and Richard DuRietz, Tangarp, Sweden. They were brought to the campus by Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Heumann, Breaux Bridge, from that city where they had visited the Mr. Crawfish, Inc. Crawfish processing plant. Traveling with the European team was Bob Hughes, Baton Rouge, Office of the Secretary of State.

LSU Campus

The Symposium will be held on the campus of Louisiana State University and as a closing exercise of the Symposium the visit to USL will be made. Over 20 countries from Europe and the Far East will be represented at the Symposium and more than 500 people are expected to attend from these countries, including those from behind the Iron Curtain.

At USL the group visited with Dr. Clyde L. Rougeau, USL president; Dr. Ray Authement, USL vice president; Dr. Jack Testerman, director, institutional research; and other USL personnel.