When you take time to think about it:
Creation and evolution can exist together

Editor, Morning Advocate:

God's science is Love.

There has been a lot of controversy on the subject of Creation and Evolution. I happen to believe in both theories. The Bible says we are created in the image of God. I believe the message God was trying to get across was not that man looked as he does today, but only the man was pure at heart. With this in mind, both theories can still apply.

Like any product comes with a set of instructions, I think of the Bible as a “how to” book. God did not go into depth as for the making of the earth. He left that to us, to give our minds something to do. We call our discoveries of the makeup of his creations “science.” That is not to say that we deny his presence, but only that we understand how things work.

There are some who do not wish to accept this and feel that it is wrong to search for the answers. God wanted us to know, (Ecclesiasticus, Chapter 6, vs. 21) “How very unpleasant is wisdom to the unlearned, and the unwise will not continue with her. She shall be to them as a mighty stone of trial, and they will cast her from them before it be long. For the wisdom of doctrine is according to her name, and she is not manifest unto many, but with them to whom she is known, she continueth even to the sight of God.”

I feel that we cannot fully understand and appreciate one viewpoint until we understand and appreciate the other. Man needs to remember “God is our guide to wisdom, and the director of the wise, for in his hands are both we, and our words, and all wisdom, and the knowledge and skill of works.” (Wisdom Chapter 7 vs. 15 & 16). If we follow his science we can achieve life everlasting.

As for our school system, I feel that it should be considered not only as science but as part of American History. On every dollar bill we have written “In God We Trust,” in court we swear on the Bible, every morning our children pledge allegiance “One Nation Under God.” He was there in our beginning, and needs to be there in our end. It seems to me a mockery that we cannot come to some type of compromise and have this taught at some time and place in our school system.
