made clear in the report, no longer had access to it.

Investigators received an anonymous tip about the possible suspects and identified the football players when reviewing video surveillance, according to the report.

In a news release Tuesday, UL-Lafayette police said roughly $2,400 in items were taken from the dorm room.

The police report lists 27 items, from a TV, an Xbox, a gold chain, an Aeropostale watch and seven pairs of shoes to a toenail clipper, ski cap, hair lotion, boxer shorts and three $1 bills.

UL-Lafayette police spokesman Lt. Billy Abrams said all 13 players are alleged to have been in the dorm room. He said it is unclear whether they knew the former occupant.

"One thing I can tell you is this was not a prank," Abrams said.

All the items have been recovered, and the football players cooperated in the investigation, police said.

The players turned themselves in Tuesday at the Lafayette Parish Correctional Center and were released on bond of $1,000 each.

"On behalf of our football program, I would like to apologize to 'Cajun Nation' and the university," UL-Lafayette football coach Mark Hudspeth said in a statement on Wednesday.

The statement continued: "We certainly do not condone the behavior that was represented and we expect much higher standards of our student-athletes. We work diligently every day to guide, educate and develop these young men, so it is disappointing when we do not meet those standards. We will be respectful of the legal process as it runs its course."

The effect of the suspensions on the team's prospects for next season is unclear.

There were several significant players in the group. Dillon, a defensive end who played all 13 games last season, was a 2016 USA Today Freshman All-America and is considered one of the best returning players.

Hunt, an offensive lineman, and Thomas, a defensive back, also played in all 13 games last year.

The $2,400 worth of items a group of 13 University of Louisiana at Lafayette football players are accused of stealing from a dorm room include a TV, an Xbox gaming system, seven pairs of shoes, a gold chain and a watch, according to a report obtained Wednesday from the UL-Lafayette Police Department.

Players Matthew A. Barnes, Joe J. Dillon, Robert G. Hunt, Denarius D. Howard, Jarvis D. Jeffries, LaDarius T. Kidd, Terik Miller, Damar'yon C. Mitchell, Trey P. Ragas, Simeon G. Thomas, Levarious Varnado, D'Aguijn J. Withrow and Jordan E. Wright were suspended from the team indefinitely Tuesday, the same day they were booked on counts of conspiracy to commit felony theft.

Police say the theft occurred April 5 at Huger Hall on campus and was reported by the mother of a student who had lived in the dorm room but, for reasons not
