CULTIVATING YOUR INNER ARNAUDVILLIAN

Eager to discover the untapped artist inside? Arnaudville’s Frederick L’Ecole des Arts offers a variety of classes and workshops for the untrained and undiscovered artist in everyone.

The non-profit, volunteer-driven organization was established in June 2007, creating opportunities for local artists and artisans to share their craft with others. Currently classes cover subjects ranging from Beginning Basketry to Creole Accordion to The Art of the Self Portrait.

“You’d have to enroll in a university to get the caliber of instruction we have here,” says Patrice Melnick, project director for the school. “Giving people the chance to explore the arts this way enriches our community.”
