French-Acadian Culture
Studied At Fatima High

By Merrill Cailloue

A program on the French-Acadian culture was presented to students of Fatima High Friday, April 26. The program, under the direction of William L. Laforce, secretary, history of the Acadia, and Robert St. John, secretary, "Acadiana Profile" spoke on aspects of Acadia-Acadian culture. A feature of the program was a model tipi, made by the student, in the history of the Native American Indians. A small flag, donated by the student, was given to the Fatima chapter of the National American Indian Students Association.

There were two categories in the Fatima Chapter of the Beta Club attended the event. The Beta Club, sponsored by Beta Sigma, and the Beta Club, sponsored by Beta Sigma, were also in attendance. The Beta Club, sponsored by Beta Sigma, was the first to arrive. The Beta Club, sponsored by Beta Sigma, was also in attendance. The Beta Club, sponsored by Beta Sigma, was also in attendance.

In order to create a holiday atmosphere, the Student Council has been decorating the school with Christmas trees and lights. There is a plan to open a special gift between the classes for the</enumerate>
