French Dignitaries Visit
In Acadiana, USL Today

Captain Francois Pichon, commanding officer of the French Naval Officer Training School, will be in Lafayette, Saturday, according to Ambassador Charles de Gaulle, who recently visited the University of Southern Louisiana and the area.

Also accompanying the Ambassador will be Rear Admiral Jean, Monceau, Commander Chatelet, and Mademoiselle Jeanette Bastille, French Cultural Attaché at New Orleans.

Visit Sponsors

The French delegation's visit to the area is being sponsored by USL and the Council for the Development of Acadiana, according to Ambassador de Gaulle and his wife, who will visit the area Saturday, where the delegation will be welcomed by Dr. John E. Bourgeois, president of the University of Southern Louisiana.

The delegation is expected to visit the Acadiana area Saturday, where they will participate in the Franco-American Relations Project, being directed by Glenn Gross, USL.

The delegation will tour the area and hold a meeting with the local French-American community, which will be attended by the local French-American community.

The delegation will be accompanied by Rear Admiral Jean, Monceau, Commander Chatelet, and Mademoiselle Jeanette Bastille, French Cultural Attaché at New Orleans.

He participated in the Atlantic Battle in the R3 group (general) with British, Polish, French, and French on the occasion of the 50th anniversary of the Battle of the Royal Naval College in England.

On Jan. 1, 1945, he was chosen to be Chief of Staff by General de Gaulle, President of the Republic. In April, 1948, he became the Commander of the French 1st Division, General de Gaulle's Chief of Staff, and the French Naval Training School on Sept. 8, 1952,

The delegation will tour the area and hold a meeting with the local French-American community, which will be attended by the local French-American community.

The delegation will be accompanied by Rear Admiral Jean, Monceau, Commander Chatelet, and Mademoiselle Jeanette Bastille, French Cultural Attaché at New Orleans.

He participated in the Atlantic Battle in the R3 group (general) with British, Polish, French, and French on the occasion of the 50th anniversary of the Battle of the Royal Naval College in England.

On Jan. 1, 1945, he was chosen to be Chief of Staff by General de Gaulle, President of the Republic. In April, 1948, he became the Commander of the French 1st Division, General de Gaulle's Chief of Staff, and the French Naval Training School on Sept. 8, 1952,