French Studies Symposium Set At Southwestern

Plans for a Symposium of French studies to be held in Lafayette in the spring are now being formulated, according to Mrs. Mathe Allain, USL French instructor and chairman of the committee for the symposium.

The symposium entitled "France and North America: Over Three Hundred Years of Dialogue: A Festival," is scheduled to be held April 26-30, 1971. Its purpose is to present as broad a view as possible of the reciprocal influences of France and North America.

"Besides a series of lectures, the Symposium, as the subtitle "Festival" indicates, will present a variety of activities," Mrs. Allain said.

Members of the committee for the symposium, in addition to Mrs. Allain, are: Layton Miller, USL assistant professor, vice chairman; Glenn Conrad, USL archivist; James Domengeaux, chairman, Council for the Development of French in Louisiana; and Pat Primeaux, Lafayette, and Richard Dalton, New Iberia, representing the USL Student Union.

The symposium is being cosponsored by the USL Student Union, the French Studies Institute of the University and CODOFIL.
