Meriwether Home on North Sterling Has Very Rich History

NOW OWNED BY JEFF GUENO AND FRANK HANLEY

Mario Mamalakis

The historically significant house at 466 North Sterling Avenue in Meriwether was built in 1901 on land purchased from Martha C. Mudd, Joseph Raoul Jean, and Thomas E. Amelung. Meriwether’s heirs inherited the property, and for some time during the 1950s, the house was purchased by Frank L. Hanley and Jeffery G. Gueno on Oct. 25, 1968. The boundaries of the property at that time were as given in North Lot C of the plat of survey by C. B. Lang on Dec. 31, 1908, and in part by property of Ernest Jeanard, south and west thereof. Ernest Jeanard and west of the property are now owned by an interior designer, owner of La Chateau Interiors, and a music student at the University of Kentucky.

In spite of its age, the house has weathered well with a few minor structural changes. Originally the kitchen was detached from the main house, and the two were connected by a covered walkway. The current owners removed a wall separating the kitchen from the rest of the house.

The kitchen, with its large windows and exposed brick walls, is a two-story room with a red and white tile floor. The original fireplace, now used as a hearth, adds warmth to the space. The kitchen is connected to the dining room, which features a large center island and a built-in china cabinet.

The dining room leads to the grand staircase, which is adorned with a stunning chandelier and a large mirror. The staircase continues to the second floor, where there are seven bedrooms and a large bathroom.

On the third floor, there is a large attic space that can be used as a playroom or office. The house also features a basement, which contains a large laundry room and additional storage space.

LIVING ROOM — This is the living room of the landmark house built by Minor Meriwether at 466 North Sterling Avenue, showing the decor of the living room.

Silk Covers Walls

Chippendale covers the walls of the dining room. These walls have been hand-painted with a Chinese brush painting, depicting the landscapes of regional birds. A handsome chandelier hangs overhead.

Lovery draperies used throughout the house are hand sewn. Gueno explained that in their decor of the house, they decided to use decorating rooms in any particular period. In any additional furniture or accessories they collect may appear from the 17th century to do more in the field of miniatures, such as the room... It is decorated with a comfortable fireplace and ashpit.

Attention should also be called to the buildings that were located in the area. There are some fine rooms in迷你ature on which the room air-conditioned. Guano's bed hangings for John D. A. A. and Mexico and other objects were essentially unchanged from its original construction are: wood, gas beaters, aud...

Marble Bathroom

The marble bathroom contains a large jetted tub and a separate shower. The tiles are a mix of marble and granite, creating a luxurious and sophisticated look. The bathroom also features a large mirror and plenty of storage space.

Fireplace

The fireplace in the living room is a focal point of the space. It is a large, wood-burning fireplace with a mantel that features a mirror and sconces. The mantel is adorned with a large collection of beautiful pottery and other decorative pieces.

Dining Room

The dining room features a large, elegant table with matching chairs. The walls are painted in a soft, muted color, and the room is decorated with a mix of antique and modern pieces. The room also features a large window that allows natural light to pour in.

Bedrooms

The bedrooms are all beautifully decorated with period pieces and antiques. Each room has a unique character, with some featuring ornate wallpaper and others with more modern aesthetics. The master bedroom features a large four-poster bed, while the other bedrooms have smaller beds and wardrobes.

Garage

The garage is a large, modern space with plenty of room for storage and parking. It features a large window that looks out onto the property, and there is a small workspace area for working on projects or cleaning.
