Justice Sanders entered private law practice in Baton Rouge following his World War II service.

On Dec. 11, 1954, Justice Sanders was appointed a judge of the East Baton Rouge Parish Family Court. Since his election to the Supreme Court in 1960, he has been active in judicial, legal and civic affairs.

His most recent honor was selection by Attorney General William J. Guste Jr. as chairman of the board of the Louisiana Criminal Justice Information System.

His dedication to upgrading the judiciary and law enforcement in Louisiana is illustrated by a lengthy list of commissions and institutes he has served.

Penal Reform Interest

In addition, Justice Sanders has demonstrated his interest in penal reform by serving as delegate to the National Parole Conference, as subcommittee chairman of the Louisiana Parolee Rehabilitation Committee (known as Forgotten Man Committee) and as chairman of a criminal law section committee on Standards of Professional Conduct in Criminal Trials of the American Bar Association.

Replacing Chief Justice Hamlin is the newest face on the Supreme Court, Judge Marcus, a graduate of Tulane University Law School.

Elected to the New Orleans City Council in 1962, he ran in 1966 for a newly-created judgeship in Civil District Court. His efficient operation of that court won admiration from the legal community and litigants, and helped Judge Marcus win a fierce campaign for election to the Supreme Court.

A graduate of the National College of State Trial Judges, Judge Marcus also is a delegate to the National Conference of State Trial Judges and is a member of a special committee to assist the Commission on Uniform State Laws of the American Bar Association.

Both Judge Marcus and Justice Sanders have served on the Louisiana Law Institute.

Opens Program

The triple feature program of March 13 will be opened by Calvin E. Hardin Jr., president of the State Bar Association, in the Supreme Court.

New Orleans Bar Association President Moise W. Dennery and Richard A. Dowling are scheduled to speak before remarks by the court's associate justices.

Chief Justice Hamlin will respond to the speeches, and will administer the oath of chief justice to Justice Sanders.

Judge Marcus will be inducted by Civil District Court Judge S. Sanford Levy.
