Baton Rouge, La. — Mrs. Stephen Roy Campbell of St. James Parish was chosen queen of the 10th annual Acadian Breakfast hosted by State Comptroller Roy Theriot in Baton Rouge Monday morning.

Selected as her king was Israel LaFleur of Lake Charles.

The breakfast at the Belle- mont featured a menu of Acadian foods that included among other tasty delicacies "Couche-Couche, Boudin and Gratons."

This year's breakfast was dedicated to Andre Mouton of St. Martin Parish for his role in the preservation of the Acadian heritage in Louisiana.

Mrs. Campbell and her king were chosen for their royal honors because of their contribution to the preservation of Acadian heritage and culture.

Mrs. Campbell for a number of years has been instrumental in having numerous Acadian historical sites marked by plaques on Louisiana highways.

Leo M. Doiron, professor of French at the St. Francis Xavier University in Antigonish, Nova Scotia, gave the principal address at the function and was made an honorary citizen of Baton Rouge by Mayor W. W. Dumas.

Mrs. Roth Mouton Hamilton of Lafayette, a former queen of the event, presented the dedication award to Mouton and a special award to Theriot.
