LSU professor receives award

Robert Lafayette of LSU has received the 1989 Special Humanities Award from the Louisiana Endowment for the Humanities for major contributions to the humanities in Louisiana.

Lafayette, a professor in the Department of Curriculum and Instruction and the Department of French and Italian, received the award at the LEH’s recent annual convention in Baton Rouge.

He directs the French Education Project and was recognized for his work with three programs: the Joint France-LSU Intensive Teacher Institute, Language and Culture Immersion Weekends for Louisiana French Teachers, and Understanding and Commemorating the French Revolution.
