PARISH SCHOOL BOARD was held Monday in a meeting to discuss the state of the schools and the future of education in the parish. Superintendent Jim O'Grady reported that the schools are facing a major financial crisis due to cuts in state funding for education. He said that the cuts will result in the loss of several teaching positions and the closure of some schools. The Superintendent also announced that he will be presenting a plan to the board for reducing the budget. He said that the plan will involve a reduction in the number of instructional days and a decrease in the amount of instructional materials provided to the schools. The Superintendent also announced that he will be urging the Legislature to increase funding for education in the upcoming session.

"More cuts are coming," he said. "We have to get back to good, hard work here in the parish. It's time to make some difficult decisions."

"And then there is the issue of the state budget," he said. "We have heard about the state's financial problems, but the problem is much bigger than that. We have to take drastic action to save the schools."

State Superintendent of Education, Mr. Chappell, said that he was pleased with the results of the meeting. "I believe that we have made some important decisions and that we are moving in the right direction," he said. "We will need the support of the Parish School Board to implement these decisions and we will work closely with them to do so."

The Superintendent also announced that he will be presenting a proposal to the board for a new school construction program. He said that the program will involve the construction of a new high school and the renovation of several elementary schools. He said that the program will be funded through a combination of state and local funds. The Superintendent also announced that he will be urging the Legislature to increase funding for education in the upcoming session.

The Parish School Board voted to approve the Superintendent's recommendations and to support his proposal for a new school construction program. The board also voted to request additional funding from the state for the schools.

The board also voted to approve a proposal for a new bus route for students attending schools in the parish.
