South finally takes lead in push for school reform

EDITOR'S NOTE — The South, for 50 years, an educational backwater, has taken the lead in school reform. From Texas to Virginia, teacher salaries are rising, regimentation is on the decline. For the first time, the Southern Scholars: A Report Card on Southern Education, shows the impact of reform.