St. John's Cathedral

Statue Is Dedicated at Ceremony

Lafayette - Honoring and dedicating the statue of the Lady of the Assumption, patroness of the Academy of the Sacred Hearts, the statue of St. John's Cathedral was dedicated in a special ceremony Monday morning by Bishop Mauger, archbishop, at the south entrance of St. John's Cathedral.

"We are all gathered to honor the memory of the Lady of the Assumption of the Sacred Hearts," said Father Richard Ogan, of the Sacred Hearts College, and in a short dedication speech he said:

"The statue, a symbol of the Lady of the Assumption, is a fitting symbol of the College and its mission.

We are all gathered here today to honor the memory of the Lady of the Assumption. She is the patroness of the Sacred Hearts College and the Living Rosary of the World. She is a symbol of the Lady of the Assumption and the Sacred Hearts College. She is a symbol of the Living Rosary of the World.

The statue is a symbol of the Lady of the Assumption. She is a symbol of the Sacred Hearts College and the Living Rosary of the World. She is a symbol of the Lady of the Assumption and the Sacred Hearts College. She is a symbol of the Living Rosary of the World.

We are all gathered here today to honor the memory of the Lady of the Assumption. She is the patroness of the Sacred Hearts College and the Living Rosary of the World. She is a symbol of the Lady of the Assumption and the Sacred Hearts College. She is a symbol of the Living Rosary of the World.

The statue is a symbol of the Lady of the Assumption. She is a symbol of the Sacred Hearts College and the Living Rosary of the World. She is a symbol of the Lady of the Assumption and the Sacred Hearts College. She is a symbol of the Living Rosary of the World.

We are all gathered here today to honor the memory of the Lady of the Assumption. She is the patroness of the Sacred Hearts College and the Living Rosary of the World. She is a symbol of the Lady of the Assumption and the Sacred Hearts College. She is a symbol of the Living Rosary of the World.

The statue is a symbol of the Lady of the Assumption. She is a symbol of the Sacred Hearts College and the Living Rosary of the World. She is a symbol of the Lady of the Assumption and the Sacred Hearts College. She is a symbol of the Living Rosary of the World.

We are all gathered here today to honor the memory of the Lady of the Assumption. She is the patroness of the Sacred Hearts College and the Living Rosary of the World. She is a symbol of the Lady of the Assumption and the Sacred Hearts College. She is a symbol of the Living Rosary of the World.

The statue is a symbol of the Lady of the Assumption. She is a symbol of the Sacred Hearts College and the Living Rosary of the World. She is a symbol of the Lady of the Assumption and the Sacred Hearts College. She is a symbol of the Living Rosary of the World.