French Ambassador Reviews Crew

WELCOMED ON BOARD the Jeanne d'Arc Thursday in a brief ceremony was Charles Loret, ambassador of France to the U.S. The envoy arrived in New Orleans Wednesday in connection with the visiting ship and its recent stop, the frigate Victor Schoelcher. The Jeanne d'Arc, a French Navy training vessel, is a helicopter carrier.

'Talks Bring Chance of Peace'

So Says French Envoy on Visit in New Orleans

As long as negotiations continue in Paris, there is a chance for a peaceful settlement in Vietnam, the ambassador of France to the U.S. said in a brief address. Then all sides in the war, he said, must exert all their efforts to bring about a settlement.

Times-Picayune, March 12, 1967
s. 4, p. 2, c. 1-3