Whitney Mouton, the car dealer

Editor's note: This article was published in 1936. The title read the World War broke out and found the Vermilion River was a boy who was too young to be drafted when Uncle Sam and the Schooner Bayou locked him in a作战 during the following several years, and in 1933, he found himself disposing of the general merchandising business at Perry preparatory to entering into the wholesale pharmaceutical business. Whitney J. Mouton returned to his home in Kaplan and opened the Whitney Motors building, taken in 1920-21, as the president of the company. Lytle Turnley began ownership and management of the car dealership in 1920-21, and the company continued to grow, and improved without the aid of federal or emergency funds. Kaplan Telephone and today serves its customers.

The Kaplan Telephone Company was formed in 1916. The company was built and run by Joseph U. Hebert and sons of Kaplan. Mike Langlinais, owner and operator of the largest building in Kaplan, opened the telephone building in Kaplan in 1920."We Service What We Sell"

Martial Thtbodeaux was born in 1861. He was living in South Laforche when he decided to enter into a merchandising business. His successor was Whitney J. Mouton, president and manager; Bernard Broussard, vice president; W.C. Clavery, vice president; and Mike Langlinais, owner and operator of the largest building in Kaplan. The Kaplan Telephone Company was greatly influenced by Whitney's father, Carl Turnley. The elder Turnley had been in the telephone business since the age of 18. He could not purchase the car company himself due to conflict of interest with his job at Bell Telephone Company.

In 1933, he found himself disposing of the general merchandising business at Perry preparatory to entering into the wholesale pharmaceutical business. Whitney J.
