USL Faculty Member Elected Head of Acadiana Neuf Board of Directors

Lafayette -- Dr. Louis Coussan, of the University of Southwestern Louisiana faculty, has been elected chairman of the official board of directors of Acadiana Neuf, a six parish community action program in the War on Poverty.

Vice president is Dr. Joseph Kile, Kaplan; secretary is M. R. Crowley and treasurer is the Rev. Ivan J. Arceneaux, Lafayette.

According to Dr. Coussan, the board is now seeking a person for the $12,000 salary position of director. He said general qualifications should be as follows: a master's degree or equivalent in education, sociology or similar field; social work or some related field; administrative ability; and interest in the poor in Southwestern Louisiana.

The chairman said any person wanting to apply for the position should use a standard form No. 57 available at any post office and mail it to the University of Southwestern Louisiana, Lafayette, La. 70504.

A total of $4,317,000 has been allocated to Louisiana under the Economic Opportunity Act. The area parish funds have been allocated as follows: Acadia, $44,142.93; Iberia, $74,352.60; Lafayette, $102,744.80; St. Landry, $67,167.30; St. Martin, $90,006.30; and Vermilion, $20,406.00.
