WHERE
This very unusual Art Show will be held in a pine grove at Villa Feliciana Geriatric Hospital on Highway 10 between Jackson and Clinton, Louisiana.

WHEN
Sunday, October 11, 1973, from 11:00 A.M. until 4:30 P.M.

WHY
Two years ago we had an open house and art show where we featured the work of prisoners of Angola and in addition we showed the primitive drawings of some of our geriatric patients. Much interest was manifested in these drawings. It was felt that educators and students of human behavior as well as art lovers would be interested in seeing and comparing the works of such diverse groups as will be exhibiting in this show. Thus was born the idea of the Villa Feliciana Art Show.

For sale will be the work of amateur artists and some of the work done by artists of the State institutions. School children’s art will not be for sale but will be in competition for the best in each category to be shown later at a special exhibit at the Old State Capitol Building.

If this outdoor clothes-line-type show does not appeal to you, you can buy something to eat from the concession stand which will be operated by the Jackson Lions Club, our guest vendor, or you can listen to the lilting music of two Angola bands that will perform all day under the pine trees.

You can visit the Chapel which has recently been completed and the new Activities Building which is open to the public for the first time. In this building you can see some of the handwork of the hospital patients which was made in Occupational Therapy. You may also participate in carnival-type games.

Just by wandering around the spacious hospital grounds you can learn much about the activities of Villa Feliciana Geriatric Hospital, the only State-operated geriatric hospital in the United States.
