From the beginning.

From the time they arrived (top left), the French visitor to America were greeted with refreshment by their hosts and business, including the mayor and Miss Murtha ophus. In the center, left to right, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Stouffer, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Stouffer, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Stouffer, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Stouffer, and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Stouffer. The couple were shown around the city and introduced to the hospitality of the people, both French and American. The couple then enjoyed a meal at a local restaurant and were given a tour of the city's major attractions. The couple were then driven to their hotel, where they were presented with a welcome basket filled with local products and a note from the mayor. The couple then settled in and enjoyed the remainder of their stay in the city.
.to the ending

Jules C. Klinker, left, greets his guests. Among those in attendance were Bob and Evelyn Tollefson, Richard Nelson, Mildred and Jack Penton, Lora Rose and Robert Thomas, Rose and Jim Reed, and Roy and Billie Howard. Many of the guests wore formal attire for the evening. In the background is the dance floor, with music provided by the resident band. Among the guests were John and Mary Smith, Bob and Jane Allen, and Tom and Susan Johnson. Many of the guests enjoyed a glass of wine or a cocktail to celebrate the occasion.
